Williams: No AIDS Yet

The status of Danny Williams health is reportedly clean, says anonymous source out of St. John's. Despite popular word on the street, Newfoundland's premier has not tested positive for the disastrous condition of AIDS, nor it's viral component HIV.

AIDS is currently devastating the Third World, as well as the members of alternative lifestyles

(drug users, homosexuals). According to reports out of the World Health Organization, the everyday suburban man is at risk to contracting HIV. Despite these reports, everyday billionaire, Danny Williams has not tested posted for the fatal disease. However, since his sexual history is not public knowledge, many worry. Continued on Page 2

Hiscock's Welcome

Hiscock's Report has been Reporting on the most important topics that affect St. John's, Canada, and even the world, for the better part of a few months. Welcome to the very first proper issue.

We are now supplying the public with .pdfs in order to look snazzier, become more portable, and less energy dependent. With incredible expenditures on energy sources, we find it to be an economical decision to print this off and turn off your computer. Then, simply disposed your copy in a garbage. We discourage encouraging, because this will just spin the wheels of machinery, further depleting our energy resources. Here at Hiscock's Report, we have a motto: "Simply Send It To The Dump, Bucko."

TORINO VS. TURIN: WTF????

Across the channels, the seems to be a disagreement of the proper spelling of the host of the XX Winter Olympiad. On one channel, you'll get "Torino", while on the next you'll receive "Turin". In fact, Canadian goaltender, Martin Brodeur has both "Torino" and "Turin" written on his mask.

This all begs the question: What Gives? I'll tell you there are two competing interests in this nomenclature debate: conservative call-it-what-wants and liberal multicultural queers. So anyway you do it, whether you have no cultural interest, or whether you do have one just to impress people, you're wrong.

NEWS SHORTS

To Gay or Not To Gay?

The jury is still out on Justin Avery's sexual orientation. Despite a new heterosexual relationship, rumors about his homosexuality abound. More reports, as they happen.

To Gay or Not To Gay? II

Despite a subtle fashion sense, introverted personality, and hatred of all things gay, St. John's resident Luke Power, maintains that he is indeed gay and loves the man cock, and not the cunt. Research pending.

Fur Pack Action Reunite

Over this past weekend, St. John's rockers, Fur Packed Action, reunited for three shows. Despite their critical acclaim, they are still considered washed up, and, frankly, jealous of minor stars, The Novaks.

Newfie Content on CBC: -600%

While Brad Gushue's curling rink is in the olympics, CBC's wall to wall Torino coverage has relegated the young skip to TSN. Don't be alarmed, as after the Olympics, formulaic Newfie comedy will return in the form of Hatching, Matching, and Dispatching, 22 Minutes, and The Rick Mercer Report, leaving humor aficionados scratching their collective overblown head.

Andrew Mast Still Missing

After reported drama within his household and band, former Mudlarks frontman, Andrew Mast, is still incognito. Analogies between this incident and Iron Butterfly have proliferated.

Williams: Very Clean

One health official provided Hiscock's Report with this very telling quote: "You never know who could be HIV positive. Whenever you start a relationship with a new person, you must be sure that they are clean, and until then, you should use protection."

Sound advise, especially for a province that has been abused by its mother (Canada) for so long, and by its countless mistresses (Smallwood, Peckford, Wells, Tobin, etc.) So how do we know Danny Williams does not have AIDS?

Is it enough to accept him on these supposed negative test results that he never took? Can we really put our trust in this blue blooded billionaire?

The answer, across the board, seems to be yes. Because, if you are going to get AIDS, you should at least do it for a pimp that demands billions of dollars in transfer funds.

NO MATTER HOW YOU CUT IT, YOU'RE GOING TO DIE

By no means is this news, but Hiscock's Report feels that it is relevant to inform you that someday, you are going to die. While no little amount of work has been down on aging and telomeres, be aware that if scientists discover the key to immortality, they will never let you get your grubby hands on it.

This Week In History

On February 19, 1878, Thomas Edison patented the phonograph and musical cred.

Robert Baden-Powell was born on February 22, 1857, and eventually gave hope to all suburban pedophiles by starting the Boy Scout Movement, with its copious ranks of "Scoutleaders".

February 25 is National Day in Kuwait. So buy some gas to celebrate democracy!

On February 26, 1815, Napoleon escaped from his island exile, using only his wits, his cunning, and his ridiculously small penis.
